

A Guide to Your Milli Account

Here at Milli, we're building a new kind of intelligent bank; one that lives on your smartphone and helps you take control of your money. We are here to help every customer better understand their finances and find clever ways to save more money for the things that matter. We exist because people have goals and need a partner to help reach them.

This guide will help provide information regarding your Milli Account, regardless of whether it is a Spending, Savings, or a Jar Account (collectively referred to as "Account" herein).

Processing Policies

Posting Order	Generally, we post transactions in the order we receive them. Deposits or credits are Transactions that increase the Balance in your account. Withdrawals or debits are Transactions that reduce the Balance in your account. Transactions received after our Business Day cutoff times will be processed on the next Business Day. We generally process withdrawals in the following categories as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • ACH transactions that are originated from your Milli account are generally posted in real time • ACH transactions that are originated at another financial institution will post when it is settled. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The transactions will be settled when they appear on your account. • Things to consider when you are relying on the timing of these transactions <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The time of day you initiate this transaction (be aware of any cut off times of the financial institutions in which you are initiating the transaction and the cut off times of Milli); • Keep in mind transfers between financial institutions aren't processed on weekends and federal holidays, so transfers take longer at those times. • Internal Milli account transfers are generally posted real time. • Debit Card Transactions (non-ATM Transactions) are generally posted in real time. The posting order of deposits and withdrawals may change from time to time based upon regulatory requirements, technology, or industry standards. We recommend that at all times you maintain an accurate record of Balances and Transactions that you authorize for deposit or withdrawal from your account, so sufficient funds are always available.
Funds Availability	Funds from some deposits may not be available for immediate withdrawal. Please refer to your Deposit Agreement for our Funds Availability Policy.

Dispute Resolution

Dispute Resolution	Please review your Deposit Agreement for information regarding Dispute Resolution. If you have any questions, please call, chat with us or email us at support@milli.bank
